

Saint Anne Catholic Church

Fifteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

A NOTE FROM FATHER EICKHOFF

The following is my response to questions raised about my homily last weekend.

The focus of the homily is for Christians to have courage in the face of hostility and disparagement from a society that proclaims that Christian beliefs and virtues are outmoded, false, and harmful in today's world. This hostility often takes the form of requiring Christians to publicly state their support for positions or policies that they disagree with. Examples of this would include public colleges and universities requiring current or prospective employees to sign statements indicating their agreement with policies that violate their conscience or risk not being hired or being fired from their employment; or requiring employees at work to wear clothing or pins to indicate support for organizations that support practices that are contrary to Christian teaching; or having their employer publicly honor organizations that openly mock the Catholic faith and expecting their employees to support this position or risk termination of their employment. There are many Christians in today's society that no longer believe that they can speak openly about their own beliefs for fear of reprisal. Such persons often believe themselves to be alone and in being alone begin to think that they should give up their beliefs and give in to society so that they no longer feel alone.

So often these policies and positions take the form of pseudo-scientific sounding statements that are repeated as "facts," but have not been substantiated or proven in a scientific manner. The example I choose to highlight in my homily is the frequently heard hypothesis that there are many different genders beyond male and female. The number and description of these various genders vary tremendously from publication to publication. As if, as is the case, the number and description of these genders comes not from any rigorous scientific study - much less many repeated and verified studies - but rather from the personal opinions of various individuals and influencers. It is this lack of any consistency or verifiability that I mocked in my homily, not any person or persons. Almost any other statement on a non-hot button topic in our society that showed a similar lack of consistency or verifiability would be rejected as unsubstantiated out of hand. Yet, on this topic of the number of genders people who disagree with the socially popular position find themselves forced to silence themselves or suffer serious consequences.

Nothing in my homily is meant as an attack upon those persons who believe themselves to be misgendered or having some alternative gender (I do make an exception from this statement for those persons who deliberately lie about their "gender identity" in order to gain access to people in private locations for the purposes of physical assault or humiliation). I most certainly do not wish them harm and will condemn anyone who unjustly causes them harm. Instead, these men and women, have my sympathy and my pity. In many cases their real psychological sufferings have been diagnosed – either by professionals or by seemingly knowledgeable persons met online – with the popular diagnosis of the moment, that is to say, having a gender different from one's actual human form. The treatment that these people receive often does little to address their actual issues; which often leads them to further and more invasive treatments that cause permanent harm. The idea that a proper treatment for physically healthy, but sexually and mentally immature teenagers who are suffering from psychological issues is surgical removal of the primary and secondary sexual organs is quite simply obscene.

I have no doubt that there are some people who will say that my lack of approval for people who believe themselves to be members of some alternative gender is itself harmful. To these people I can make no defense that they will accept. They will not accept anything other than my public approval for their personal beliefs; which I cannot in good conscience give to them. Yet, it is this public approval that is demanded of not only me, but of many other people. And not only on this particular topic, but of many other topics. It has been pointed out to me that Pope Francis has publicly reached out to persons who believe themselves to be transgendered. I am glad that the Holy Father has done this. The Church should maintain lines of communication with all human beings. There is nothing gained and much to be lost should the Church refuse to reach out to people who believe themselves to be transgendered. However, that outreach cannot be predicated on agreeing that persons who believe themselves to be transgendered (and those persons who are pushing them in that direction) are doing the right or moral thing. This must be adhered to even if it causes hardship for the Church. The success of the Church is not measured in the number of people attending church services, but in the Church's fidelity to the teaching of Jesus Christ as handed down to us through the Holy Scriptures and the Apostles.

It is to encourage the members of the Church to be stout-hearted and courageous in their faith and in their own conscience that I gave this homily. As I wrote earlier, Christians today feel pressured to abandon their beliefs in order to fit into society, or to keep their employment, or to be considered "upto-date" with current popular thinking. The homily is meant to recall for us living today that our ancestors in faith also felt such pressure and still persevered in their faith. We can do the same.

Yours in Christ,

Fr. Stephen Eickhoff

Pledge your gift to the CMAA

If you have already pledged your support to the Catholic Ministries Annual Appeal, THANK YOU! If we all participate, we can meet our parish's CMAA goal of $109,300.00. Each and every gift, large or small, makes a difference. To date we have received pledges totally $121,400.00 with $103,201.00 made towards pledges.

If you have not yet made your pledge, it's not too late. Please prayerfully reflect on how you can best support the CMAA this year and ensure all in our Diocese know that we belong to God. There are many options for giving, from pledging to monthly recurring gifts. Pledge envelopes are still available in the literature racks, or your can return the pledge card you received in the mail from the Diocese or make a gift online at jolietdioceseappeal.org.

Remember, if we raise more than our goal, the Diocese will return to us 70 percent of the amount over goal. This is an amazing opportunity for our parish.

But why?

Little kids ask a lot of questions. Our Junior High youth (and I'm sure high school teens too) also have lots of questions but sometimes are too timid to ask. Today's Gospel shared that Jesus speaks in parables because the mysteries of heaven haven't been granted to all. Our youth wish Jesus could just speak plainly to them (not in parables), so it is up to us to help them 🔎

KENDALL COUNTY COMMUNITY FOOD PANTRY

The Kendall County Community Food Pantry continues to serve families from the County in need of food assistance.

Interesting Statistics:

◆ 2,201 neighbors served with 939 being new in 2022

♦ 6,540 includes all family members of the neighbors fed in 2022

• 280 families (on average) were served per week in 2022 with a recent week serving 315

♦ 14,560 shopping carts were loaded up

♦ 72,800 meals provided per shopping cart. This assumes 5 meals can be made with each cart

(which is a low number)

♦ $175 assumption of what each cart is worth (again a low number), then...

♦ $2,548,000 was saved by all households through food distribution at KCCFP

Cash donations go a long way. For every dollar donated, the pantry can purchase $8.00 in food from the Northern Illinois Food Bank.
